

Completing Your Table of Contents Options

After creating your protocol, you will be guided to an Options page.

This is the first section in your protocol's Table of Contents. Once you click Save, the choices on the Options page regulates which sections are added to your Table of Contents.

Note: You can proceed to any section in the Table of Contents.

A green checkmark in the box next to a section indicates that all required fields in the section have been completed. All sections must have a checkmark before you can submit your protocol.
